GOV. ELECT LEE CRUCE

Of Oklahoma Guest of Senator P. S. Maxwell at The New Marion Hotel Several Days.

Senator Maxwell received a telegram from Governor elect Lee Cruce last Friday in answer to a letter he had sent him reminding him of his promise to come by Marion and give his friends a glimpse of him. The telegram was dated at Louisville where Mr. Cruce was at tending the Governor's Convention, and stated that he would arrive that afternoon. A number of his friends accordingly went to the train to greet him and were entertained at supper in an informal way by Senator Maxwell. Mr. Cruce remained here Saturday and Sunday and left Sunday afternoon for Ardmore. He has many warm friends here and as this was his first visit in seven years there were many reminiscences to recall, and his visit gave pleasure to every one who came in touch with him. He is the same genial unassuming gentleman he has been since his boyhood. Fortune and fame have not spoiled him in the least.

At The New Opera House Dec. 13

The New Opera house will be opened Tuesday night Dec. 13th by Miss Elizabeth McKay Ward and Miss Mary P. Willett.

The program will consist of a one act allegorical sketch "In Quest of a Heart", Negro and child Impersonation, short stories, dramatization from famous plays, with character and operatic singing.

Everybody should attend this entertainment. It will be one of the best of the season. We all remember with pleasure Miss Willett at one time a teacher of elocution in our school. Her marked ability and accomplishment combined with the sweet amiable disposition won for her many friends while in our midst. Miss Ward is also an artist of marked ability.

We bespeak for them a full house. Our enterprising citizen Myrian Frisby has rehearsed the opera house and made it new, but few town Marion's size can boast of a better one.

Oklahoma's Capitol

Location Bill Passes

Oklahoma, City, Okla., Dec. 5—The lower house of the Legislature to-day passed the capitol location bill, authorizing the Governor to accept as a gift to the State not more than eighty acres of land for the capitol grounds at Oklahoma City, and not more than five miles beyond is corporate limits. The new bill now goes to the Senate.

Joe Ben Champion is a member of the Oklahoma legislature.

Miss Price's Pupils Recital Dec. 9

Miss Ina Price's pupils will give a recital on Friday evening Dec. 9th at the school auditorium. The program is most interesting and consists of piano solos, choruses, ensemble selections, consisting of duos, trios and eight handed pieces. There will be several pretty drills. Miss Holtsclaw will give select readings. The hour will be 8 o'clock Admission 25 and 10c.

Corner On Mt. Zion.

Ralz Dorr seems to have a call on Mt. Zion burials. Three weeks ago Sunday he drove from here to Shady Grove and took the remains of Mrs. Lucas to Mt. Zion for burial. Two weeks Sunday he took Mrs. Heirges from the Dean neighborhood to Mt. Zion for burial. Last Sunday week he conducted the interment at the same cemetery of John Heath, making three successive sabbaths he was called to Mt. Zion. It is getting so, at Mr. Dorr's home now when the phone rings on Sunday morning Ralz tells his wife "well I guess I'll have go to Mt. Zion today."

FIVE GO DOWN TO DEATH IN DEEP SEA OF MUD

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 7—Slowly sinking in a sea of mud at least five men are known to have gone down to death, swallowed up by the "Honey ports" that lie around Frederick House Lake in the newly discovered gold-mining region of the Porcupine district of Northern Ontario. The story has been brought from the new gold fields by W. R. MacLeay, mining engineer and prospector, of Montreal who has spent the summer in the immediate district, and who, emaciated and gaunt-visage, has come back to civilization to recover his health.

Mr. MacLeay says that just before he started out-bound on his tramp the fall rains had converted a large part of the district into mud and wide, deep patches of yielding, shakingsoil. When he left camp, a little more than two weeks ago, nearly everything edible had been eaten and starvation stared the miners in the face. Some of the miners in desperation faced the peril of the long and "injuring tramp" to Bischo to bring back food, the general load being 100 pounds of provision per man strapped upon his back.

The most difficult and deadly part of the journey was along the shore of Frederick House Lake, where there was an old Hudson Bay post.

"It was on his part of the trail," said Mr. MacLeay, "that I saw on my way out two men with loads on their backs slowly sink down in the mud and disappear from sight. Their cries and shrieks were frightful to hear. There were several others around, but we could do nothing for the two unfortunates, who were gradually engulfed before our eyes as we stood near by, helpless to afford them any assistance.

"One man told me that he witnessed two stalwart fellows sink to their death under similar circumstances other than those I have described. I have already told of a young lad who went to his doom in like manner lower down the trail. It is quite possible there were several others who met a like fate."

WENDLING CONVICTED ONE YEAR AFTER MURDER OF ALMA KELLNER

Strangely enough, Wendling was convicted of the murder of Alma Kellner in the same month that the child disappeared. Only a few more days and one year will have passed since Alma Kellner was last seen alive in the vicinity of St. John's church. Following is a chronological history of the case.

Dec. 8, 1909—Alma Kellner disappears from home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kellner, with no tidings from her after she starts to ten o'clock mass at St. John's church. Search continues unceasingly, early theory pointing to case of kidnapping. St. Johns church and scores of other buildings, sewers and possible hiding places ransacked.

Jan. 14, 1910—Joseph Wendling suddenly disappears from St. John's church, where he had been janitor before Alma Kellner disappeared.

May 30—Richard Sweet, a plumber, discovers charred and mutilated body of Alma Kellner in the sub-cellar beneath parochial school, adjoining St. John's church.

June 5—Coroner's jury accuses Wendling of the murder.

June 18—Chief Carney receives information of Wendlings whereabouts in Texas.

June 20—Wendling indicted.

July 30—Wendling arrested in San Francisco under assumed name. Had shaved off mustache.

Aug. 12—Wendling returned to Louisville and lodged in Jefferson county jail.

October 4—Wendling arraigned and pleads not guilty. Attorney Clements asked transfer of case to Federal Court because Wendling is a native of France.

October 15—Judge Gregory over rules motion to transfer jurisdiction of case to Federal Court. October 20—Federal Judge Walter Evans refuses petition to assume jurisdiction.

November 14—Attorney Clements' petition for a mixed jury half American and half French, denied by Judge Gregory.

November 28—Trial begins.

December 3—Jury finds Wendling guilty and gives him life sentence in the penitentiary.

HOW THE VERDICT IS ### VIEWED BY THOSE WHO ARE INTERESTED

Fred F. Kellner, father of Alma Kellner: "The only statement I have to make on the verdict of the jury is that I am sorry the jury did not return a verdict of death instead of life imprisonment. Mrs. Kellner feels the same way in regard to the verdict."

Frank Fehr, cousin of Alma Kellner: "I am positive of Wendling's guilt, but I don't feel that there should have been any compromise in disposing of him. If guilty, he should have had the death penalty; if not guilty, he should have gone free."

Col. H. Watson Lindsey, chief of police: "While on the train coming home with Wendling I made the statement to newspaper representatives that I was the chief of police to protect the innocent as well as to see to it that the guilty are punished. I made up my mind at the time that I would not permit any unfair advantage to be taken of Wendling. This I carried out, and although no one even suggested that such a thing be done I was just as careful to see to it that it was not attempted in the gathering of evidence against him. As for the verdict, I do not feel that I should say anything. I am not the court, but an officer, and I feel that Wendling had a fair trial, and that his guilt was shown or he would not have been convicted."

In Honor Of Mrs. W. O. Tucker.

On Friday afternoon Miss Virginia Nunn entertained the Virginia Club in honor of her guests, Mrs. Rice and Mrs. W. O. Tucker. Miss Emma Scott was the lucky winner of the prize a pair of silk stockings. Miss Nunn's guests were: Mrs. Reginald Rice, Mrs. W. O. Tucker, Misses Louraina Nourse, Emmie Scott, Nina Vischer, Bertha Scott, Florida Rodman, Lida Eden, Allen Crothwaite, Mason and Elise Montgomery, Cornelia Gordon, Sara and Marie Lockett, Cnt Cunningham, Isabel South, Mary Swigert Hendrick, Lucy Rodman, Genevieve and Edith Posey, Mary Belle Hobson, Sallie Page, Rachel Settle, Natalie Martin, Annie Mason, Margaret Reading and Virginia Gray.—Frankfort Correspondence Courier Journal.

Cap. John P. Carney, chief of detectives: "I have nothing to say as to the guilt or innocence of Joseph Wendling; the trial speaks for itself. I did my duty as a public officer as I saw it. I worked faithfully under the worst of circumstances to ferret out this crime. At first I could not believe it was such a murder, so I worked on the kidnapping theory, then I turned to the murder theory and swore that I would never stop until I had captured the former janitor."

"As for convicting him I allowed that to rest with the law and its officers. I have no ill-feeling against Wendling or the men who, because of bias and political prejudice, criticised me unkindly and undeservedly. I have no apologies to make at any time and I feel in my own heart that I acted as a good citizen and a good officer should have done."

"The charge that I was influenced by political motives is untrue, and I had in mind only the upholding of the law and the punishment of the murderer of this little girl."

"On the witness stand I was careful to tell nothing that I was not sure beyond a doubt. I might have said a great deal more against him, but I stayed within reason. All the time he was in my custody I treated him like a brother instead of a prisoner, and to tell the truth I came to like him. I feel sorry for his poor wife, but I feel far greater sorrow for the parents of his poor little victim."

MRS. EDDY, FOUNDER OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CULT, HAS PASSED AWAY

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science has passed away.

Entirely apart from any acquiescence in her beliefs, the consensus of opinion is that a remarkable woman has passed away in the death of Mrs. Eddy. The originality of her doctrines have been denied and their validity scoffed at, but the organization of the Christian Science church stands today as a monument to her genius as an organizer. Like so many women who have exercised a large influence in the world, whether a St. Catherine or a Pompadour, her origin was humble, though in her case not obscure. The story of the first fifty years of her life is monotonous and depressing. It is the story of an ambitious sickly woman, with poverty and misfortune to face. The last forty years is the story of the rise and spread of the cult which she founded and organized.

About her life, legends have sprung up almost as thick, as about the mystical lives of the middle ages. Simple facts about her are the subject of the bitterest dispute. Indeed, the question that she was still alive has been seriously raised from time to time and on one occasion she appeared before a jury of newspaper representatives to prove that in fact she was still among the quick.

Whether Christian Science is Quinbyism worked over is of no great importance. The salient fact is that under Mrs. Eddy's guidance mental healing was accepted in whole or in part by millions of people and under her direction they were compacted into one of the strongest organizations the world has known. From her writings, crude and unlettered, she amassed a fortune of a million dollars and her property she managed with the same skill and acumen that she managed her church.

Christian Science has not only gathered to itself a large body of devotees, but it has powerfully influenced the medical profession and Christian denominations. In the churches it has given rise to the Immanuel movement and other movements of similar sort.

In the medical profession, the influence of the mind in diseases has of course been recognized. But the progress of Mrs. Eddy's cult undoubtedly has turned attention more sharply in that direction than otherwise would have been likely.

Called.

Last Saturday Rev. J. B. McNeely was unanimously called as pastor of Blackburn church for the year 1911. Bro. McNeely is rapidly coming to the front as pulpit orator. His discourses are said to be logical and effective. He is also supplying for Sulphur Spring church, this county.

RALPH PARLETTE

The bureau managers of Ralph Parlette, who comes to lecture at the school auditorium Dec. 16, report his seasons sold long ahead with more demands than they can fill, and we are fortunate indeed to be able to secure him. His lecture will come nearer pleasing all tastes with his humor, philosophy and eloquence, than any speaker who has been here in years.

"Let's stay acquainted—the world's so small we'll need each other before we get out of it." This is a characteristic greeting of Ralph Parlette. Here's another of his outbursts: "I'd rather be hungry than handsome!" Don't forget the date, Friday December 16.

Concerning Mr. Edison's Views On Immortality

In a recent issue of a prominent St. Louis newspaper an interview with Prof. Thomas A. Edison is published in which the distinguished inventor is represented as giving his opinion that there is "no soul" and that such doctrines as personality and immortality are nothing more than mythical accretions.

Concerning individuality Mr. Edison is quoted as saying that "we" each of us, aggregations of cells as New York is an aggregation of individuals; and regarding immortality, he is said to have declared. "I cannot believe in the immortality of the soul."

Asked for an opinion concerning this statement Dr. Arthur Mather, pastor of Marion Methodist church, says:—I would say that it is difficult for one to express ones self as they otherwise might have done had Mr. Edison produced his proof. As it is there is nothing before us but mere assertion concerning the things mentioned. This is to me all the more amazing because Mr. Edison, occupying the unique position that he does as the greatest inventor of the age, would always require proof of the most exact nature in the case of any hypothesis on which he might be at work, and from which he hoped to obtain positive and abiding results.

Speaking generally, however, it seems strange that a man of Mr. Edison's calibre should have allowed himself to be thus caught in the meshes concerning a subject of which, (assuming the newspaper report to be correct) he is evidently to a large extent unfamiliar. Indeed, as one comes to think, Mr. Edison judges himself out of his own mouth, for what greater personality has arisen in our midst during the last thirty years than that of Thomas A. Edison? And yet, according to the newspaper report, he denies "individuality." This is, however, but another proof of the great scientific fact that, in some persons, faculties of certain kinds are more wonderfully developed than they are in others. For instances, I remember a skilled mathematician who years ago amused a number of his assembled friends by meekly asking what Milton's "Paradise Lost" proved. The poor fellow's question proved two things; first, his own limitation; and second, that a cell was wanting in his brain. He was an excellent mathematician, but no poet.

To give another illustration, I recall the fact of Sir Humphry Davy, the great chemist of the early nineteenth century—discovered of coal gas, and other important utilities, who was one day walking along the spacious aisles of the picture galleries of Louvre in Paris, where some of the greatest masterpieces of the world of art are to be seen, and who amazed his companion by exclaiming, "What a fine collection of gold frames." Sir Humphrey was acute in science, but blind in art.

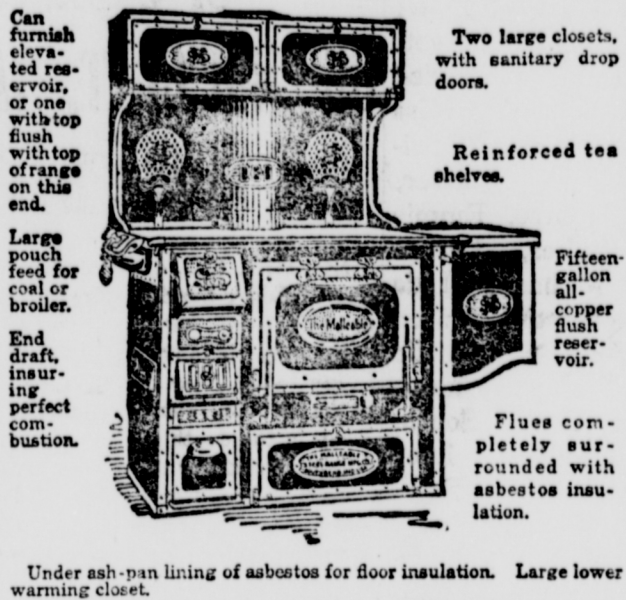

Yet another instance comes to mind, that of the matchless artist, J. M. W. Turner. Who that has ever seen his unrivalled "landscapes" with their exquisite richness of color and blending, but does not confess to a feeling of sadness that the great artist should ever have tried to make verses? Turner was a surpassing painter, but nothing of a poet.

Occasionally a many-sided genius arises, but, as a rule, the

LINER TO SET FOOD RECORD

When the White Star liner Olympic steams on her maiden voyage to New York she will carry such an equipment for the dining tables and such a supply of food as has perhaps never before been shipped on board a steamer for a trip across the Atlantic.

In provisioning a big liner all sorts of tastes have to be considered through the varied demands of the travelers who now take the voyage in such large numbers. The humblest passenger has to be considered just as much as the connoisseur with unlimited means. Nothing that might be asked for must be forgotten.

In her equipment the Olympic will require: Seven thousand pieces of glass, 25,000 pieces of china, 107,000 pieces of linen, 26,000 pieces of electroplate and 5,000 pieces of cutlery. The store of food for the westward voyage will also include 6,000 pounds of fresh meat, twenty-five tons of potatoes, 15,000 eggs, 200 barrels of flour, 4,000 pounds of fresh fish, 8,000 pounds of poultry, 500 barrels of game, 10,000 bottles of ale and stout, 6,000 bottles of mineral water, 1,000 bottle of spirits and 5,000 bottles of wine.—Chicago Record-Herald.

TROTTER OXEN

A farmer came to town Monday driving a pair of oxen to a buggy which attracted a great deal of attention. No such a team was ever seen to a buggy in Elizabethtown before. ## A STATESMAN'S FUNERAL

The body of John G. Carlisle was sent from New York to his former home in Kentucky for burial. It was received there by no committee waiting to do it honor, by no individual that mourned over it. An expressman put the coffin upon his wagon with other packages and hauled it to an undertaking establishment. And now a subscription is being taken for burial.

This is the body of a man that was for years a leader in the Senate of the United States, Secretary of the Treasury in one of the most critical periods of our financial history, and at one time was within measureable distance of the Presidency itself.

The struggle for the maintenance of bimetalism that disrupted the Democratic party gave Carlisle an opportunity to manifest his firm integrity as a financier and as a statesman. But it lost him the support of his party and of his State. Now his body is carried home to a pauper's funeral. But some day Kentucky will build a monument to commemorate his fame.—New York Evening World.

The early murmurings adverse to the election of Representative Champ Clark to the Speakership of the House in the Sixty-second Congress seem to have no foundation in material fact. There are unmistakably some Democrats who regret that the Missouri leader was permitted when Democrats were in the minority to preempt the prize. Had any considerable number anticipated the landslide which gives the House 107 eastern and northern Democrats there is no doubt the organization of the next house would have witnessed a pretty contest over the Speakership. It looks now as though Champ Clark will drive that Missouri mule team to the capitol, which he promised he would do if elected Speaker. Democratic troubles will come from other provocations than the Speakership election.

WENDLING WILL BE HANGED Under Old Law If Condemned

Will Wendling hang or go to the electric chair, in the event that he is convicted? This question is being asked on all sides and much interest is being manifested in the manner of execution in the event of a conviction, because of the passage of a law by the last Legislature making electrocution the legal form of execution in Kentucky.

Wendling will hang if the death sentence is meted out to him. The Constitution of Kentucky provides that a law becomes automatically effective ninety days after the adjournment of the Legislature unless there is an emergency clause necessitates the passage of the bill and the attachment of the clause by a constitutional majority.

The bill establishing the electric chair as the legal form of execution did not bear the emergency clause, and therefore became automatically effective ninety days after the adjournment of the Legislature.

The Legislature adjourned March 15, 1910, and the law became effective June 16 1910. A provision of the act reads: "This act shall not apply to crimes committed before this act takes effect; the punishment of such crimes shall be such as was prescribed by the law in effect when the crime was committed."

The murder of Alma Kerner is supposed to have been committed some time after December 8, 1909, or before the law making electrocution the legal, so that the perpetrator would be executed according to the form that was the law before the passage of the bill.

As a matter of fact the electrical apparatus, as prescribed by the bill, which was approved by Gov. Wilson March 21, 1910, has not been wholly installed in the penitentiary at Eddyville.

DEATH OF MRS. STUBBLEFIELD.

After nine months of continuous illness, Mrs. Nancy Ann Stubblefield, wife of the deceased P. C. Stubblefield, died at the home of her son, W. U. Stubblefield.

Mrs. Stubblefield was born Feb. 25th, 1835, and departed this life Nov. 24th, 1910. She was married to P. C. Stubblefield May 28th, 1854, professed faith in Christ at the age of thirty-nine and joined the United Baptist church at Emmaus where she has been a faithful consistent member 'till God called home. The deceased leaves six children, four sons and two daughters, thirty-six grand children, two brothers and one sister, together with a host of friends and other relatives to mourn their loss.

The funeral services were conducted by the writer from the text "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; Yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." Rev. 14: 13.

Her remains were interred in Tyner's Chapel cemetery to await the resurrection.

To the mourning friends we would say, weep not, for your loss is her eternal gain, so live that your last be as hers and prepare to meet her in the sweet beyond where mother has gone to await the coming of her children.

This languishing head is at rest,
Its thinking and aching are o'er;
This quiet, immovable breast
Is heaved by affliction no more.

Farmers' Dining Club

(Columbus Dispatch)

The central fact if the drift from the country to the cities is to be stopped, there must be provided in the country some of the things that country folk go to the city for. The farmers of Wayndotte county, Kansas, seem to have understood this when they recently established a farmers' dining club—a place where they may meet once a month and discuss, after a good dinner, the questions in which they are in common interest. The discussion is a good thing. The getting together for that purpose after the manner so common in the city, is good. The social life of the community will be improved and there will be more rapid material progress for the communion. It will not be strange if farms are better tilled, if farm help is better distributed, if markets yield better prices, if roads are more regularly and adequately repaired and if county affairs are more efficiently managed, as a direct result of this fuller and more formal intercourse.

The farmers' dining club is a good thing. There ought to be one in every community. That is the way to secure the united action that means success and progress.

Free Remedy For Weak Bowels

There are two forms of bodily cleanliness, the external and the internal. The one is for your pride in yourself; the other for your life and health. Both are important, but of vastly more importance in the long run is the internal cleanliness.

This is one point that all should watch about their body—the cleanliness of the bowels. Keep them clean and free from obstructions. To do this you must have one or two movements of the bowels each twenty-four hours. If your system does not do this naturally, in the process of eating and drinking, then you must obtain aid of some kind. After finding out that cathartics, salts and such things relieve you for a day, but bind you up worse than ever the next day, then try a simpler and more natural remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

For the skeptical the best way to begin is to send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle. Use it as directed and if it convinces you that a brief continuance of its use will relieve you permanently—that it will train the stomach and bowel muscles to again work naturally at certain hours—then buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as so many others are doing. They began with a sample bottle, then bought a fifty cent bottle, and now, fully convinced of its merits, they buy the one dollar family size. All the members of the family can use it down to the very youngest.

A brief use of this grand laxative tonic will cure constipation in its worst form, indigestion, liver trouble, sick headache, sour stomach and such ailments and keep you in continuous good health at a very small cost. Such is the experience of many families like that of Mrs. Oscar Fleener, Unionville, Ind. J. F. Daniel, Saron, Tex., and hundreds of others that could be named.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Charity Woman's Field

Charity is pre-eminently woman's field of social activity. Her sympathetic nature and intuitive keenness fit her for the work of ministering to those in want and distress. Her active co-operation, already of immeasurable value, would become vastly more so if there was more generally an inclination, seriously and method fully, to study the difficult problems involved in modern charity. Centralization of effort is the watchword.

The past is gone forever
Its memories though we cannot sever,
Things that hurt so much today,
Are the unkind words of yesterday

Remorse to us will surely come,
If dishonest things, we've done.
Clouds will gather 'er our way
From unfair trades of yesterday.
Who in our honesty did believe,
We see today it did not pay
Those crooked deals of yesterday.

If some officials of our state,
For private interests did legislate,
The gold they took to us betray,
Looses its luster of yesterday.

There is satisfaction in doing right,
Sunshine by day and peace at night,
It makes life happy all the way
If we obeyed our conscience yesterday.

Groom In Short Trousers

Paducah, Ky., The County Clerk's office here found its record for juvenile weddings broken yesterday, when Johnnie James Smith, seventeen years old, and Miss Ethel Wallace, fifteen years old, both of Paducah, were granted a marriage license.

The groom is an apprentice blacksmith at the Illinois Central shop. After the ceremony the couple left for Louisville on a bridal trip.

The groom wore short trousers and the bride was in frock.

During the nitrate year ending June 30 the Chilean field produced 2,260,000 tons of nitrate, an increase of 420,000 tons over 1908-09. Of this amount the United States consumed 109,000 tons, and the American market now ranges at about $42 a ton, a drop of $1 from last year. The production in Chile is now uninfluenced by a combine.

The 500 hundred club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. W. V. Haynes, Saturday afternoon from two until 5 o'clock. There was a full attendance and four tables were used five at a table. Mrs. Haynes was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Jessie Croft and Mesdames J. W. Wilson and S. M. Jenkins. A most elegant two course luncheon was served. Miss Martha Henry won the first prize a rich cut glass Bon Bon dish. Miss Ellis Gray was scarcely less fortunate in winning the booby prize a beautiful hand painted jewelry box. Among those who were so fortunate as to be the guests of this charming young matron were:

Misses Williams, Ruby and Elizabeth James, Kittie, Fannie and Ellis Gray, Della Barnes, Leaffa Wilborn, and Martha Henry. Mesdames Russell, Sanders, Gugenheim, Henry, Tucker, Crawford, Haynes, Baird, Nunn, Roberts and Chastain Haynes.

all round man is a myth; and this last venture of Mr. Edison's is sadly lacking in those elements which have made him so absolutely the monarch of his own sphere. We yield to no man in our admiration of our great wizard; and we have no word of censure to hurl at him for what he has been reported to have said concerning the things above mentioned; but if he has said them, we feel somewhat like the 'Doctor of the Auld Skule' portrayed so vividly by Ian MacLaren, who, when he went to see the poor laborer who was down with typhoid, and concerning whom, the Landlord's physician had declared, but a little while before, that in a few hours all would be over. The old Doctor, skilled in his knowledge of every man, woman, and child in the whole country side, said to the sorrowing wife, "Weel, Belle, woman, it wadna be yarra respectful o' your husband to live, after such an exalted opinion." "But, said he, the Landlord's disna ken (know) that Saunders has been breathing nothing but pure Drumtoety air, and eating nothing but oatmeal, and drinking sweet milk frae the 'coo' for the last five and thirty year, and that, therefore his splendid constitution will stand him in good stead in this his hour of affliction."

Mr. Edison is a great man, and knows a great many things, but like all other great men, he will be the first to acknowledge that the things that he knows are as nothing compared to the things that he does not know.

For instance, take the question of 'personality' for an example. Where is the man who today is so far away in the rear of the procession of modern progress and achievement as to disagree with Mr. Edison, or any body else when they tell us that man is composed of so many atoms or cells, or whatever else one likes to call them, and that these atoms, or cells are constantly changing, so that in twelve months perhaps, or at the most, in a few years the atoms which today constitute our bodies will have given place entirely to a new set of atoms. In other words, my body that today is, is not that body that a year hence will be. Yet will Mr. Edison, or anyone else, please tell us how it is that I do not change?

The Mr. Edison of today is the same Mr. Edison who years ago astonished the world by the invention of his electric lamp; and who since that time has blessed humanity with some seven hundred useful inventions. Yet, if man is only an aggregation of cells as New York is an aggregation of individuals, then the Mr. Edison who invented the incandescent lamp years ago is dead, gone long ago into oblivion unknowable. But, we all know that this is not so.

Our friend and benefactor still lives. And many of his great admirers are hoping that he will long continue to live to bless his fellow man with the rich achievements of his marvellous intellect. No! individuality is not destroyed in like manner as the material atoms of the body change. The real man, is not the form that is seen by the naked eye.

He is that which dominates the physical body; and while it is ours to recognize the body for the long years of our earthly pilgrimage; yet, in the real sense, we never SEE the true man on whose physical form we may from time to time gaze. But we can discern his actions, and recognize the product of his various talents, and we have no difficulty in establishing his identity by what we are pleased to call his personality. And this mystery of personality must be explained away by uncontrollable proof before any one is warranted in making such assertions as have been attributed to Mr. Edison.

C. Y. Haynes Dead.

News reach here a few days ago of the death on Friday, Nov. 16th, of Christopher Y. Haynes in Vicksburg, Miss. Mr. Haynes was born and reared in this county and will be remembered by many of our older readers. Some forty odd years ago he left here and located in New Madrid, Mo., where he engaged in newspaper work. Several years later he went to Mississippi and had since lived in different places in that state. For the last fifteen or twenty years he had been engaged in timber contracting, working for a Chicago lumber company.

There no better men than Kit Haynes and his many friends here and elsewhere will be grieved to learn of his death. He was about seventy years of age and unmarried. He leaves two brothers and two sisters, R. C. Haynes, of this city, Rev. J. G. Haynes, of Cartersville, Mo., Mrs. T. M. Hill, of this county and Mrs. F. G. Daniel, of Lima, Ohio.

TWO FUNERALS IN ONE DAY

Rev W. T. Oakley was called to Bellsmine on a sad mission Thursday, that of preaching two funerals in one day. At the church at eleven o'clock he preached the funeral of Charles Travis, and at the residence he preached J. T. Gifford funeral at 1:30 o'clock. Both were victims of the boiler explosion in the Bell mine Tuesday night. Travis remains were buried at Bellsmine and Gifford's were taken to his old home,

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many kind and sympathizing friends who so lovingly stood by us in those last sad hours of distress, when our darling son and brother was taken from us without a moments warning. May God's richest blessings ever rest upon each and every one of you. And let us say to Clarence's friends "try to live right" so when that great and notable time comes you will all be prepared to meet him "some sweet day." But it will not be long until we will all go home to meet dear Clarence beyond the river where loved ones shall part no more.

Mrs. Gus Stewart Dead

Telegrams received in the city Monday announced the death of Mrs. Annie Cain, wife of Gus Stewart at Anniston, Mo., Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It is presumed she died of heart failure as she had not been ill before that her relatives here were aware of. She was a sister of Mrs. A. H. Travis of this city and was a daughter of the late Newt Cain. She leaves five children and husband. Mrs. Stewart was about forty-three years old and was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. The burial took place Monday at Charleston, Mo. where her father and mother are buried.

Chicago Democrats TO #### Come Into Their OWN

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 4—Monday is Chicago Democracy's great day. It will be the fall of the Bastille and the surrender of Cornwallis rolled into one. With ceremonies befitting the occasion, the victors at the November polls will march into the county building and assume control of the offices they won. After fourteen years of banishment, fourteen years of reverses and adversities, the battle-scarred battillion will come into occupancy of the citidel. Visions they have dreamed during the fourteen years bivouac in the snows are about to be realized.

Over 3,000 jobs with a salary list of over $3,500,000 fall into their hands as the spoils of war. All the power and prestige the Republicans have been deriving from the patronage for fourteen years past now become the possession of the Democrats by right of conquest. The abdication of the old officers and the installation of the new Monday, will be the most spectacular episode in the annals of Cook county politics for several decades past.

It will probably be the last great demonstration of the ancient "spoils system" that Cook county will ever witness. During the years they have been in power the Republicans have steadfastly refused to get a civil service act applicable to Cook county through the legislature.

Now the tables are entirely reversed. The party not only loses the jobs, but the prospects are that a Cook county civil service act will be passed next winter, which will entrench the Democrats in the offices they lately won from the Republicans. Both parties are pledged to the form and the republicans are in such a position that if they sidestepped merit laws extension it would only provide campaign material for the Democrats four years hence.

SILVER WEDDING #### ANNIVERSARY.

On Friday last, Dec. 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Rochester celebrated their silver wedding anniversary by giving an informal reception at their beautiful home, "Waveland," and they were the recipients of many congratulations from friends far and near. The charming weather made the occasion ideal and the appropriately decorated home combined with the graceful attention of the ladies who assisted, made the guests enjoy the affair with unusual pleasure. The long list of names which follow testify to the esteem in which this worthy couple are held,—to say nothing of the elegant and useful presents which silently attested the good will of their senders.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church were special guests of honor on this occasion, and Mrs. Rochester was assisted by the following: Mrs. Gugenheim, who received at the door. Mrs. W. N. Russell, in the guests' chamber. Mrs. H. D. Pollard, in the gift room. Mesdames R. L. Orme and Miles Flanary, who poured the coffee and chocolate, and Misses Della Barnes, Elizabeth Lawson, Elizabeth Johnson and Ruby James who served the refreshments, which consisted of chicken salad, olive sandwiches, coffee, pineapple frappe, cakes and salted nuts.

The following is the list of gifts:

Mrs. J. W. Johnson and daughters, sandwich plate; Mrs. J. H. Orme, salad spoon; Mrs. McAdams and Miss Lawson, salt and pepper shakers; Mrs. H. K. Woods, sugar shell; Mrs. Gus

Taylor, meat fork; Mrs. J. I. Clement, tomato spoon; Mrs. D. W. Stone, orange spoon; Mrs. H. A. Haynes, cream ladle; Mrs. Sam Gugenheim, sugar tongs; Mrs. Dr. Driskill, cream ladle; Mrs. J. D. Asher, butter knife; Mrs. J. N. Boston, silver spoon; Mrs. C. E. Weldon, silver spoon; Mrs. W. J. Deboe, sugar shell; Mrs. Carlos, silver spoon; Mesdames J. G. Rochester, George Foster, John Nunn, Miles Flanary, Fannie Walker, Jesse Olive, H. D. Pollard, Nannie Cochran, L. Harpending, each silver spoons; Mrs. W. L. Venner, pickle fork; Dr. and Mrs. Mather, pearl handle fruit knives; W. E. Carnahan, tomato spoon; McMullin and daughter, cream ladle; Miss Della Barnes, olive fork; Miss Lizzie James, cold meat fork; Mrs. Russell, desert fork; Miss Ruby James, half dozen salt spoons; Mrs. Hoyt and daughter, pickle fork; Mrs. P. A. Howerton, souvenir spoon; Mrs. J. K. Smith, sugar shell; Miss Ina Price, cream ladle; Mesdames A. S. Cavender, mesh chain purse; Edward Bowers, Paducah, fruit bowl; Seyster, Smithland, olive fork; Archie Berry, Sturgis, olive fork; Seagraves, Sturgis, soup spoon; J. K. Hawes, Sturgis, ice cream spoons; R. L. Coffman, Morganfield, salad fork; Mollie Ledbetter, Elizabethtown, Ill., salad spoon; Mary Chambers, Morganfield, souvenir spoon; Mrs. McClain, Franklin, Ky., cream ladle; Mrs. Fred Alloway, Sturgis, gold bowl ladle; Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Thomas, Central City, Ky., a handsome dress, of mauve crepe de-soie, over messaline.

CONGRESS ASSEMBLES

"So do thy duty, that when thy summons comes to join the innumerable caravan that moves from the capitol to the pale realm of private life, where each shall take up his chamber in the silent halls of political death, thou go, not like the unfaithful servant scoured by the lash of public disapproval; but, sustained and soothed by a knowledge of duty done. Approach the political grave dug for the by the constituents like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams of re-election."

Washington, Dec. 5—In words meaning the same as these, but not so eloquent—he not being a literary gentleman—President Taft will appeal to the numerous gentleman who on March 4 next will retire to private life, after the brief and final session of the Sixty-first Congress, which convened to-day. With the knowledge that this will be the last assemblage of lawmakers during his present administration in which the Republicans will hold the balance of power, the President is determined to make it a memorable one. "Insurgents" and "regulars" have apparently buried the hatchet and will work together to make the sixty-four working days of the session about the most fruitful in history.

To-day's sessions of both the Senate and the House were brief, and, after the usual preliminaries, both bodies adjourned for the day out of respect to the dead.

METHODIST CHURCHES PLAN TO FORM CLOSER UNION

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 6—The joint commission of twenty-seven, representing the Methodist Episcopal, the Methodist Protestant and the Southern Methodist churches, which has been for the past three days considering proposals looking to a possible union of the churches named or of closer relations between them, adjourned to-night after having appointed a committee of nine to further consider the matter, prepare a detail plan for further procedure and report to another meeting of the whole commission which is to be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., next spring.

The commission is composed of Bishops Earl Dranston, Washington; the Rev. J. F. Goucher, Baltimore and R. T. Maller, Cincinnati, representing the Methodist Episcopal Church; Bishop E. E. Hoss, Nashville, Tenn., the Rev. F. M. Thomas, Louisville, and N. L. Walton, Woodstock, Va., representing the Methodist Episcopal Church, South and the Rev. T. H. Lewis, Westminster, Md., the Rev. M. L. Jennings, Petersburg, Va., and S. R. Harris, Henderson, Ky., representing the Methodist Protestant Church.

the proposition. Its unfolding and demonstration will go on until the end of time.

We must seek to be remembered by what we have done. Away yonder on the sea shore among the trees and vines, where naught is heard but the dashing waves is a solitary grave covered by a plain and unpretentious slab, and on it only this name and inscription: John Howard, "a Sinner Saved by Grace," and yet ships stop there and wait until tourist and travelers climb up the bank and go to see that grave. That is not the monument of the great philanthropist. He lives in the hearts of the great and good all over the world. Where is the monument of the quiet and modest George Peabody, who, though yonder, is here dispensing light and blessings to thousands, and especially the poor?

Kind readers let us so live that we will make the rugged path of life smoother and easier for some poor unfortunate brother or sister to travel.

H. W. Piland is visiting in Lyon county.

Mr. Henry Owen has purchased the Bill Tabor farm near here and will move to it in a few days.

Gregory Stock Is Acquired By Opposing Faction

That the contest for the control of the Citizens' National Life Insurance Company, with the litigation that has arisen from it, is on the eve of permanent settlement through the purchase of the Gregory holdings in the company by the opposing faction, is a report in circulation in Louisville which seems to have correct foundation.

It is reported that the two factions have reached an agreement as to the stock, whereby the Gregory holdings, which amount to about 20,000 shares of the Citizens National Life Insurance Company stock, will be transferred to the opposing faction.

The Gregory stock includes the holdings of President W. H. Gregory and Vice President R. E. Gregory and other members of the family. This sale of stock will do away with the contest for control of the company at the annual stock holders' meeting January 11.

The authorized capital of the Citizens' Life Insurance Company is $1,500,000, in 150,000 shares.

TRY THIS FOR CATARRH

Get a HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-mei) outfit to-day.

Pour a few drops from the bottle into the inhaler that comes with each outfit, and breathe it in four or five times a day.

Immediately you will know that HYOMEI soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated membrane.

But HYOMEI does more than soothe and heal; it kills the germs, those persevering pests that are at the roots of all catarrhal conditions.

OBITUARY

W. B. Crider was born April the 10th 1828 died Oct. 20th 1910, aged 82 years 6 months and 16 days. He professed faith in Christ when 19 years of age at Piney Fork Campmeeting and joined the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Piney Fork, was made ruling elder in 1851, and served as same 59 years. He married first to Arminie Crider in 1849 and in little over a year death. He was again married to Miss Elizabeth Butler in 1855. To this union were born ten children. He was married again to Mrs. Winalduff 1876, again death entered his home. He was again married to Miss Linia Lamb in 1894. He leaves to mourn their loss a wife and two children, Arminie Brantly of Kansas and Jack Crider, of Oklahoma, and a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. He will be missed, but by none like these three companions. Eight children have proceeded him to that home for which he has been looking to for years. I can truthfully say Brother Crider was one of the best men I ever knew. He was a devoted husband and father, and his companions and friends never tired of administering to his wants. He was a true blue Cumberland Presbyterian, and loved his church. His health failed a few years ago, he suffered a great deal but bore it all so patiently.

In the death of Brother Crider the church has lost an earnest Christian worker and the home a loving companion.

The funeral was preached by the writer, in the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Piney Fork in the presence of a large congregation. At the close of the service the Masonic fraternity took charge of the remains and conducted the same to the cemetery where the body was laid to rest by their beautiful ritualistic service.

We say to the wife and children, "weep not as those who have no hope, father is not dead but sleepeth." May the God of love bless and comfort your hearts is my prayer.

REV. J. R. KING.

Nervous

"I was very nervous," writes Mrs. Mollie Mirse, of Carville, Ky., "had palpitation of the heart, and was irregular."

"On the advice of Mrs. Hattie Cain I took 2 bottles of Cardui and it did me more good than any medicine I ever took."

"I am 44 years old and the change has not left me, but I am lots better since taking Cardui."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Cardui is advertised and sold by its loving friends. The lady who advised Mrs. Mirse to take Cardui, had herself been cured of serious female trouble, by Cardui, so she knew what Cardui would do.

If Cardui cured Mrs. Cain and Mrs. Mirse, it surely will cure you too. Won't you try it? Please do.

FIRST DISTRICT EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

The greatest meeting of the First District Educational Association was held at Wickliffe November 26th and 27th. Teachers from all thirteen counties came to the probably number of three hundred and fifty. There were 246 who registered and a hundred more who did not register and thus saved their dollar registration fee.

It was a great disappointment to some because the boat did not run from Paducah to Wickliffe; but every train was crowded with enthusiastic teachers from every section of the district, who attended this great annual meet for pleasure and profit. Wickliffe is an out-of-the-way place and hard to reach from anywhere, but professional pride and loyalty to the cause impelled teachers to attend when attendance was entirely voluntary.

The speakers from outside the district were: Dr. P. P. Claxton, of the University of Tenn., Prof. R. P. Green, of the Western Ky., Normal, Bowling Green, and Byron W. King, of Pittsburg, Pa. The remainder of the program was filled with addresses from school men who reside in the district.

Byron W. King lectured Friday evening. His subject was "What Fools We Mortals Be." This is one of his greatest lectures and it received the hearty applause that King only can command. He will deliver the same lecture in Marion, March 29. This will give our people here an opportunity to enjoy the philosophy and fun so characteristic of the man.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Supt. J. E. Lane, Wickliffe President, Supt. J. U. Snyder, Marion, Vice President, Supt. J. A. Carnagly, Secretary.

Those who attended the association from Marion were: Supt. Jas. U. Snyder, Prin. V. L. Christian, Misses Moore, Harris, Hicklin and Hard.

After a somewhat stormy session at the close of the program, Marion was chosen as the next meeting place. Arrangements

ARE YOU DEAF?

Catarrh Is probably The Cause. Get Rid of The Cause.

If you have catarrh and have constant ringing noises in your ears look into the matter at once.

It's a pretty sure sign that catarrh is spreading and is making its way through the Eustachian tubes that lead from the nose to the ears.

When catarrh gets to the ears partial deafness follows. If you have ringing noises in your ears go to Haynes & Taylor's to-day and get a HYOMEI outfit and drive out catarrh.

To cure catarrh HYOMEI should be breathed through the Hyomei inhaler for a few minutes, four or five times a day. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler and breathe it.

It kills the germs; soothes the irritation; heals the inflammation; stops hawking, spitting and snuffing.

HYOMEI keeps the throat free from mucus and prevents crusts in nose.

The complete HYOMEI outfit which includes the little indestructible hard rubber inhaler, a bottle of HYOMEI and simple instructions for use, costs $1.00.

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irassburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irassburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

DONT JUDGE A MANURE SPREADER BY LOOKS

Every manure spreader is not a Cloverleaf that looks like one. You can't judge a manure spreader by its looks because there are many features which are found in the construction of one machine that are not found in others. Cloverleaf manure spreaders are the most easily operated, the strongest and best machines on the market. If you will examine one critically, you will agree with us that the Cloverleaf is the best machine you ever looked at. Drop in. Let us discuss the manure spreader proposition. Let us explain the many meritorious features found in Cloverleaf construction. Better still, buy one, then you will be in a better position to know why you can't judge a manure spreader by its looks. If you are not ready to buy, call and get a catalogue. It is filled with valuable information on soil maintenance and fertility. We are reserving one for you. Won't you call and get it today?

Letter From Dan Stone.

Wrigley, Ky., Nov. 27th.
Mr. Editor:—I will tell you of a few facts concerning East Kentucky.

This part of the state is very rough hills and mountains, the great Creator was thinking of the future generations—doubtless when he formed the surface of these regions. Had the surface of Kentucky been level, we would years and years ago been without timber to build houses. These parts of the state are full of the very best coal both stone and cannel, also oil and gas and after all these years of timber butchering yet the state surface is one third covered with timber and because of the steep hills and the extra rich soil (the richest in the world) the timber will grow to 20 inches in twenty years thus reproducing its self. God knew the nature of man and therefore fixed things so he can not possibly starve or freeze if man will only use his brains and muscles these millions of acres can not be very easily cultivated some not at all except by hoe, and therefore most men have gone on west and left only a few in these mountain counties but in as much as they have stayed, God has fixed it so they can live awfully easy. I actually never saw any place where man could live so cheaply. There is no high society, no ten dollar hats to buy, no silk dresses, no taylor made suits—just plain every-day folks with good plain clothes and common sense and lover of independence. Farming is mainly for their own living no one scarcely has any corn, hay or hogs to sell nor do they buy, each one raises their living. The men, women and children work in the fields. Most of those in the rural districts wear no shoes in the summer and the money spent for clothing is astonishing small amount compared to west Kentucky and still a greater difference compared to west Texas. I saw an old man at Hico, Texas, with a John B. Stetson hat on, that cost $8.00 wholesale, I have also seen whole families here with less than $8.00 worth of clothing on. Wages one dollar and board, in timber work. Lots of timber and coal—plenty of work—business is fine.

UNIONTOWN SELLS WATER WORKS FRANCHISE

On Tuesday at Uniontown the franchise for water works for the town was sold at the city hall door to the highest and best bidder. Uniontown will undoubtedly support a good plant of the kind and it would materially cut down the high insurance rate, besides enabling the citizens to increase the effectiveness of their fire-fighting department, and in other ways prove a valuable acquisition to the town. -Sturgis News Democrat.

Good for Uniontown. Now city dads there's a good example for you to follow, Marion needs water works.

YOUNG MEN SHOULD TAKE EXAMPLE.

Forty-seven years ago, on a farm about five miles from Marion, Crittenden county, was born to fond parents (all parents welcome the advent of a son) a son. This boy was named, "Lee."

We are not informed that "Lee" was an extra-ordinary boy in any particular. He was endowed with mother-wit and good health, and the invigorating atmosphere of the rough and rocky old country of Crittenden caused the red blood in his veins to flow swiftly. He grew to manhood in his native heath, and we are justified in believing that he took all possible advantage of the meager opportunities to develop the gray matter, an ample supply with which God had endowed him.

At the age of twenty-seven "Lee" concluded to try his fortune in the new and ever promising West. To "go west and grow up with the country." He was grown physically, but not mentally, the dents of knowledge continued to multiply upon the brain of our hero. "Lee" went to Oklahoma, Oklahoma of booming cities, rich soil and democratic ideas. "Lee" was a democrat; a believer in advancement; was rich, so far as nature's endowments go.

Our hero showed his push and pluck in his new home and soon found himself, one the leaders in politics, and in financial affairs, in his adopted home. So prominent did he become, that we find him making the race for the democratic nomination for Governor of the new state. However, he was defeated by the present Governor, C. N. Haskell. Notwithstanding the defeat, the Crittenden county boy was undaunted, and when the time came for another democratic nomination, he was in the race. Not only was he in the race, but he won, and when the great democratic landslide came on Nov. 8th, he was elected "in a walk," over the republican candidate—In Short Lee Cruce, formerly of Crittenden county, Kentucky, is Governor-elect of good state of Oklahoma.

Young men can profit from the example of Lee Cruce. We are personally acquainted with boys who doubtless have as much natural ability and far more numerous opportunities than had he. Yet these boys; some of them, are whiling away their time smoking cigarets, etc; Are depending on their parents for a living; have no fixed purpose in life. We appeal to all such, that they take a lesson from Lee Cruce, formerly a Crittenden county farmer-boy, but now Governor-elect of Oklahoma and the head of a National Bank in that state. —Dixon Journal.

REPTON.

Mother earth is once again clothed in her white robe as a result of the cold North-western blast of Monday night and though we once enjoyed the beautiful snows in our childhood day, we now regret to see such cold disagreeable weather in our declining years. However, all things work together for the good to those who put their implicit trust in the Lord. And though we have had very fine weather since the winter month until present, yet some of us are inclined to complain because of the little pinch we are experimenting now. It is an ill wind that brings no good, therefore since the bad weather has set in Repton has an informal organization named by the writer of these items "Sons of Rest" Repton, Ky., they meet every night at Ed Perry's store, exchanging stories during rainy and snowy weather. It is thought to thoroughly organize soon and elect all officers. We would suggest Bob Moore as chairman and Bennie Duval as secretary. This is ideal weather for a rousing meeting provided Ed can furnish fuel free.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

MRS. HUMPHREY WARD

England's Great Woman Novelist.

LITERARY prophecy, like dynamite, should be handled with extreme caution, it sometimes goes off unexpectedly, and the future has often an irritating way of contradicting the prophet. When Matthew Arnold, the great English critic, declared: "No Arnold could ever write a novel," he did not dream that his niece, Mrs. Humphrey Ward, would be the most successful novelist of her time in the world.

The daughter of Thomas Arnold, she was born in Tasmania in 1851 and when five years old was brought to England. There was much ink in the Arnold blood, and in the inspiring atmosphere of Oxford, as she grew up to womanhood, a slender, graceful girl, with dark hair and eyes and an intensely earnest expression, she won the attention of the literary lights of the University town.

She was then a student of life and of human nature, absorbing vitality like a century plant, as yet showing no sign of blossoming. A wonderful linguist, she spoke and read German, French, Spanish and Italian fluently. At twenty-one she was married to Thomas Humphrey Ward, the litterateur and art critic. The first tender leaves of promise in literature were her contributions to the "Dictionary of Christian Biography," for which she received $30; a bud of feeble hope was her first story, a child's tale; and in 1883 bloomed the first flower of her real fiction, "Miss Bretherton."

Her translation of "Amiel's Journal" is a marvellous transcript into another tongue of the reflections of the gentle, analytic, Swiss professor who so dearly loved to follow a vein of rich thought down to the finest capillaries of emotion. It was fifteen years ago that "Robert Elsmere," her great religious novel, swept the reading public as on a tide. The book was based on the terrible religious doubts, fears, misgivings and questionings of Mrs. Ward's father, who left the English church to become a Roman Catholic, later surrendering his new faith and in the end turning again to the Catholic fold. "The History of David Greave," "Marcella," "Sir George Tressady," "Helbeck of Bannisdale" and "Eleanor," following at intervals of two years, are all lofty in tone, pure in sentiment and individual in conception.

Her latest work, "Lady Rose's Daughter," undoubtedly shows Mrs. Ward at her best. The delightful heroine Julie Le Breton is intensely human; the situations are novel; the sketching of English society keen and vivid, and the touch surer and lighter than in any other work of this famous woman.

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Success Through Undaunted Courage.

THE daily paper has become a great power, a mighty, personal influence in American life, a pulpit for lay sermons where the audience may number half a million or more. No other American woman writer has so large, so constant, so close and personal an audience as Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Her articles in the New York Evening Journal, whose great circulation there is multiplied by their syndication throughout the country, give her a wondrous influence. They are simple, practical, helpful thoughts for better living; sincere, sympathetic and strengthening, filled with the sunshine of courage and optimism. The hundreds of letters she receives is an eloquent tribute to the seriousness of the American mind and the hunger of struggling ones throughout the country for counsel and light on the problems and perplexities of daily life.

She was born in Johnstown Centre, Wisconsin, the youngest daughter of a Vermont music teacher, who had made money and lost it and was forced to make a fresh start in life at a little place on the prairies twelve miles from Madison, and at the age of eight made her first offerings to the muse of literature in the form of efforts in prose and verse which she still has preserved.

At fourteen she began to appreciate the commercial side of literature when her verses appeared in "The New York Mercury" and other periodicals that considered subscriptions, books, pictures and bric a brac compensation, in lieu of the coin of the nation.

Mrs. Wilcox's first book, "Drops of Water," a collection of poems on total abstinence, appeared in 1872. Just twenty years ago her most famous poem, "Laugh and the World Laughs with You," appeared in the "New York Sun" and for it the writer received five dollars. In the same year her famous book "Poems of Passion," which raised a whirlwind of protest, abuse and ridicule, made her name known from Bar Harbor to the Golden Gate.

Mrs. Wilcox's success was not due to influence nor to special advantages working toward publicity; but to her untiring loyalty to a dream, her persistence and a courage undaunted by failure, a serene confidence unmoved by opposition and ridicule.

In 1884, her marriage to Robert M. Wilcox, of Meriden, Conn., brought her East, her winter home being in New York and her summer residence at the "Bungalow," a delightful cottage at Short Beach, Conn., where she rests, writes and recuperates from her busy life in the city.
